

GOVERNOR SEEKS TO OBTAIN MONEY TO REOPEN BANKS

Special Session of Legislature Called to Report to White May 16

TO AID BUSINESS

Ohio's Share of Federal Fund Is Sought

COLUMBUS, O., May 5.—Promising to reopen several closed
banks and expedite the liquidation
of others, Governor George White
today had called a special session of the legislature for May 16 for the purpose of borrowing money
from the federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The unexpected move by the governor, which was the second
call for a special session in six weeks, was made for the express purpose of putting Ohio back on its feet, financially, following bank
failures last year.

One of the Democratic candidates who has no opposition at
the primaries and no candidate
is slated to oppose him at the November election is the John Kidney murder trials, and should come through with flying colors at the November election. He will be opposed by Ray W. Davis, of Monroe-twp., at the November election. Mr. Davis is seeking the first public office in Pickaway-co
on the Republican ticket.

One of the Democratic candi-
dates who has no opposition at

first public office in Pickaway-co
on the Republican ticket.

Charles H. Radcliff, Sheriff, is another who has no opposition at the primaries nor at the November election according to the present ticket. He has served as Sheriff in an excellent manner
and has made a good county official. Through the diligent work of Sheriff Radcliff and his deputies the Kidney murder case was cleared in record time and brought to a successful conclusion with all the accused being convicted. He is deserving of a second term.

Do your duty and vote at the Primary Election next Tuesday.

Mr. White, in his proclamation,
pointed out that the difficulty of opening closed banks "has deprived
the citizens of the state of necessary credit facilities and has impeded the progress of agriculture,
commerce and industry, and the recovery of normal business conditions."

Legislation which will be proposed when the general assembly
convenes, the governor stated, will "enable the superintendent of de-positors and other creditors without sacrificing the value of assets
of closed banks by liquidating
them at present low appraisals."

The bills to be presented to the assembly by the governor's spokesmen also will "expedite the reopening of closed banks which are in condition to warrant resumption of business."

SLASHES EXPECTED

The governor's call for a special session opened the way for a renewal of the demand for a reduction of salaries of state and county officers which was made by several legislators at the recent session on unemployment relief.

Governor White at the time indicated that he might call the legislature back later to consider salary-cutting. Although his proclamation limits the legislators to consideration of "banking business,
he has authority to send in supplementary messages.

CHARGE IS FILED

A bastardy charge has been filed in juvenile court by Mary Elizabeth Pontious, 15, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Samuel Pontious of Deer-
creek-twp., against Newell McNeal,
Williamsport stock dealer.

Bond of $500 has been arranged for McNeal's appearance next Wednesday, May 11, at 2 p. m. before Judge E. A. Brown.

Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L.
Crist stated Thursday that other charges may result from the juvenile court charge.

BROKER SUICIDES

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 5.—
Financial worries were believed today to have been responsible for the action of W. A. "Rube" Smith, 58, head of a brokerage firm here, yesterday in shooting and killing himself in his office.

BANDITS GET $10,000 AT BLANCHESTER BANK

Four Men, Travelling in Two Automobiles, Getaway After Holdup

TWO ENTER BANK

Men Escape Toward Cincinnati After Act

BLANCHESTER, May 5.—Four
armed bandits traveling in two automobiles made a getaway with $10,000 today in a holdup at the First National bank of Blanchester. Changing cars a short distance from Blancheater after the robbery
the robbers eluded two citizens who set out in pursuit and escaped toward Cincinnati.

With a volley of profanity two of the holdup men entered the bank and turned revolvers on J. O. Norman, vice president, and George Harmanban teller.

Roughly shoving a sack into the hands of Norman, the leader commended:

"Fill it up and be—quick."

When Norman returned with the sack, only partially filled, the bandit leader gave another severe order:

"Go get the rest of the money—
you."

When the sack had been filled the two robbers joined their companions who were keeping a lookout in the street and the two cars
speed southward.

A license number on one of the cars was Ohio, 854,464 but the other number was not obtained. The bandits were described by Norman
as "about 25 years old and well dressed."

Harry Hansen, Aetna, Layman,
Dorothy Shumard and H. Frey, customers, were in the bank when the robbers entered. The robbery was carried out without resistance
by either customers or bankers.

HIT BY LIGHTNING

FLUSHING, O., May 5.—Struck by lightning as he was milking a cow during a storm, Lawrence Boyd, 32, Flushing farmer, was almost instantly killed today.

Boyd's wife was milking a cow nearby when the bolt struck. The cow was stunned and fell on her injuring her slightly.

4 ARE KILLED

CENTAU, MO., May 5.—A man

GHOST LEADER OF PEDDLERS SOUGHT

CINCINNATI, O., May 5.—A
"phantom" leader of a gang of
narcotic peddlers was sought in Cincinnati today by federal authorities.

The mysterious leader, who appears and disappears in strange
ways, was said to have been seen immediately prior to a raid on a Cincinnati home yesterday. When authorities arrived, however, the "phantom" had vanished again, although three other persons were found, and were arrested.

CROP PRODUCTION SERVICE EXTENDED

The time limit for filing United States crop production loan applications has been extended until May 14, according to an announcement to the county crop production loan committee, received from
H. A. McKenzie, state inspector.

Anyone interested in making an application for crop production
loan, may obtain blanks and information from the County Farm Bureau Office where application
forms and instructions are available.

MEANS HELD BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—
Gaston B. Means, former United States department of justice investigator, was taken into custody
here today on charges of larceny
after trust of $100,000 which was supposed to have been put up as a ransom in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping case.

Authorities charge the money was given Means by Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McClain, wife of Edward
L. McClain, local publisher.

Means is alleged to have approached Mrs. McClain in March,
a short time after the Lindbergh
baby was stolen from his crib in Hopewell, New Jersey, and to have represented to her that he had contact with the kidnapers.

Mrs. McClain, the allegation continues, was so impressed with Means' story she gave him $100,- 000 of her own money to ransom
the child. Since then, according to the District Attorney, Means has "stalled" Mrs. McClain concerning the progress he was making.

Recently Mrs. McClain became suspicious and informed the authorities of the facts. Means was taken into custody here this afternoon and bound over to the department of justice.

TO ARRAIGN INDICTED MEN

Judge Adkins to Hear Pleas
of Those Indicted by May Grand Jury.

Arraignment of prisoners indicted by the May grand jury will be held Friday at 9 a. m. before Judge Joseph W. Adkins, he announced Thursday. Prisoners who plead guilty to the charges
which they are indicted
for will be sentenced at that time.

Judge Adkins said, and trial dates
will be set for those who plead not guilty.

Those who will be arraigned are Clarence Brungs, charged with carrying concealed weapons; Roy Smith and Harry Brandon, charged with burglary and larceny; Harold Bowsher and Richard Clark,
burglary and grand larceny; Pearl Messmore, burglary; Charles Holland, burglary and petit jar-sony; William C. Patterson, burglary and larceny and Benjamin McClain, non-support.

PLEADS GUILTY

Jerry Smallwood, 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny before Judge Adkins Thursday but the court withheld sentence pending investigation of the case. Smallwood admitted breaking into the Coca Cola Bottling Co., S. Scioto-st., and stealing an adding machine and $11 in cash.

He claimed that he was intoxicated
when he committed the act.

Trial dates for two other criminal cases will also be set by the court Friday. They are against James McNeal of Ashville charged with cutting with intent to wound Alfred Van Fossen at a carnival in that village, and George and Harry Sawyer, brothers, charged with committing rape with consent upon Daisy Kuhn, 15. These three were indicted by the January grand jury but could not be tried because of the six murder trials in the Kidney death. All three are out of jail on bond.

PALM FUNERAL

Private funeral services for William H. Palm, 72, who died at his home, E. Main-st., early Wednesday, will be held Friday at 2 p. m.
at the Mader & Ebert funeral parlors with Rev. S. R. Metzler officiating. Interment will be in Forest cemetery.

Members of the Improved Order
of Red Men will act as pall bearers
and will conduct services at the grave.

Friends are requested to call at the funeral parlors Thursday evening and Friday until the time of services.

Men Watched Trio Take
Chickens, From House

Three men, alleged chicken
thieves, were bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond by Squire E. C. Friece, Thursday,
when two of them, Charles Kesterson, 20, of Cedar Hill, and Raymond Greer, 18, of near East Ringgold, pleaded guilty, and James Arthur, 27, of 489 S. High-st., Columbus, pleaded not guilty to stealing chickens from the residence of W. J. Neubauer, one mile north of Marcy, Madison-twp.

The three were captured at 2 a.
m. Thursday by Deputy Sheriff
Miller Fissell, Neubauer, and C. F.
Smith, Eldon Swoyer and Walter Ittle, residents of Marcy. The capture was made in Fairfield-co after the trio, with 60 chickens in their Chevrolet coup, narrowly escaped
injury when the car left the road
and turned over after a hot eight-mile chase.

WATCHED ROBBERS

Neubauer said Thursday morning that 55 chickens were stolen from his place on Jan. 28 and that nearly every night since that time he has been watching, waiting for the robbers to attempt a robbery. He said that Wednesday night, Smith, Swoyer and Ittle, were with him when they saw a coupe driven past the house, go to the cross-road, turn around and come back again. He said this performance was repeated several times before the car was stopped,
opposite the henhouse.

The men left the car, Neubauer
asserted and opened the sliding door of the poultry house and sacked 60 chickens. While they were in the henhouse he said he called the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell immediately answered the call. Neubauer, who had his car parked in front of the house, tried to stop the trio but they evaded him and sped south on the county-line road. Neubauer
and the others gave chase and in a few minutes were joined by Deputy Fissell.

NONE INJURED

They followed the fleeing Chevrolet for eight miles before Arthur,
driving the fugitive-car, not being acquainted with the road turned the car over. None of the men were injured. When taken into custody Arthur was found hiding under the automobile.

The three were brought here to be arraigned before Squire Friece.
Arthur said that he knew nothing of the plan to steal the chickens
until they were put into the automobile. However, he was driving the car in the attempted getaway.
All three were lodged in the jail
upon failure to provide bond.

R. MAC DONALD HAS SECOND OPERATION

LONDON, May 5.—With his physicians confident the danger of blindness has been averted, Prime Minister J. Ramsey MacDonald
underwent an operation to correct
diminishing vision of his right eye
today.

A brief bulletin issued by his physicians Drs. William S. Duke-sider and Sir Thomas Horder, read
as follows:

"The operation on the Prime Minister's right eye was undertaken successfully at 4 p. m.

Premier MacDonald underwent
a similar operation on his left eye
a few weeks ago. The operations were performed to eradicate a painful condition which threatened his eyesight.

8 PLANES BURN

DAYTON, May 5.—A spark from an airplane motor was believed today to have been responsible for the explosion which wrecked and set fire to a hanger at the U. S. army post here resulting in destruction of eight old model
airplanes.

The blast let loose with a terrific roar its force crumpled one of the walls of the hanger. Eight men who were working in the structure narrowly escaped with their lives.

The Lutheran Brotherhood banquet will begin at 7.30 p. m. Thursday.

Capone Is Now Number

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5.—Alphonse Capone, alias Al. Brown,
alias Scarface Capone, alias Albert Costa, alias "Boss", sometimes known as Snorky, is a man of yesterday.

Today he is federal prisoner No.
40,886.

So in a number that is stenciled
across the back of the faded blue and white jumper and on the legs
of the overalls he is sentenced to wear for ten years, there comes to a dismal and the criminal career
of Al. Capone, gangster, racketeer, booze boss.

FROM FRONT PAGES

So passes into oblivion and
from the front pages of a thousand newspapers the name of whom Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson
said he was the leader of a band
of insurrectionists whose outlaw
camp was in a Chicago hotel and whose activities constituted treas-
on against the laws and government of the United States.

It was only a moment after the gates of Atlanta prison swung closed upon him last night that the realization of his lost identity was impressed upon Capone. Warden A.
C. Aderholdt came forward to meet
United States Marshall Henry C.
W. Laubheimer of Chicago and his prisoner.

Turning to Capone, the warden
asked:

"What is your name?"

In a voice that was husky and
almost timid the gangster said:

"Alphonse Capone."

And in a voice that was cool
and even Warden Aderholdt said:

"Your number will be 40,886.
Give me whatever money you have."

The gangster handed over $220.

END OF ROAD

This was the end of the road of crime. This was oblivion. But for Capone it was more—and worse. It was the beginning of the most miserable six-and-two-third years
(the approximate length of the minimum prison sentence with time off for good behavior) of Capone's life.

At the end of that time, about January, 1939, Capone will be returned to the comparative luxury of the Cook-co. Ill. jail where he sat since last October 24, when Judge Wilkerson sentenced him to eleven years imprisonment, fined $50,000 and imposed the costs of his trial for income tax evasion.

The mittimus which United States Marshall Laubheimer
gave to Warden Aderholdt when Capone entered the prison, speci-

Temporary Appointment As Desk Sergeant Made Permanent by Council.

Raymond Smith, popular temporary night desk sergeant of the police department, has been permanently employed after City Council Wednesday evening approved the appointment of J. Wallace Crist, safety director.

Smith was appointed temporarily when the job was created several months ago pending a Civil service examination. He, with three others, took the examination
and all passed the tests.

The desk officer is a sergeant in the Ohio National Guard and is the position.

Mayor Urges Day Observance

Sunday, May 8th, has by common consent been set aside as Mother's Day. It is a beautiful and worthy recognition of the debt we owe motherhood in general and our own mothers in particular. Let us strive to pay that debt by a joyous and grateful acknowledgment of our love and reverence to the mothers whose sacrifice and service have so wonderfully blessed
and enriched our lives.

Therefore, I, B. T. Hedges, Mayor of the City of Circleville, urge upon all our citizens the observance of Sunday, May 8th, as Mother's Day in our homes and in our churches.

Judd Commutes Sentences

PRESSURE HEAVY

Retrial of Native Now Is Not Expected

HONOLULU, T. H., May 3.—
A movement to wipe away the last vestige of stigma that might legally attach itself to the names of Lieut. Thomas F. Blount, Wm.
Grace Hubbard Parsons, Albert
O. Jones and E. J. Lord, gained momentum today.

Despite the fact that the four
"honor slayers" defendants received commutation of their 10-year manslaughter sentences in a fashion that virtually amounted to a pardon, since none of their mainland civil rights have been lost, new pressure was brought to bear on Gov. Lawrence Judd to grant full pardons.

ORGANIZATIONS HAVE

Private citizens at work in their organizations joined in the demand to remove the stigma from the killing of Joseph K. Kahohawai.

Meanwhile it appeared that the four men accused of the Kahawai of the attack on the Thalia Mammie that put the tragedy would be taken back into court.

Although the territory government announced it was ready to reconsider their sentences, the Dawson legal action, the Americans, has urged that they be kept in order to Mammie.

The fact that Mrs. Mammie
had to sell for the support of her day young woman, the charges would be taken back into court. The charges also would mean
native elements.

Gov. Judd intervened upon the commutation because of extensive
political pressure brought to bear
from Washington. It was reported.

TALKED WITH WARDEN

Only after a meeting with the warden of the territorial penitentiary at Honolulu did the defense attorneys take counsel
with Attorney General Hewitt.

The end of the case came with unexpected suddenness. A petition for a commutation of sentence was signed by the defendants.
The four then were released. Since the naval base into the compound
of Judge Charles S. Jones of Honolulu, the arrested
for sentencing.

Ten years at hard labor was imposed, but the fates of the Americans were changed.

From court the four were taken to Judd's offices where the commutation was signed. The defendants were then released.
The four men were released.
The four men were released.

Leading the demand for a full pardon were Walter H. Hedges, (Continued on Page Six.)

the lawn of his fashionable Southern Hills suburban home today
with a bullet hole through the left temple.

Officials expressed the belief
that Powell had committed suicide,
possibly because of financial wor-

RESIGNED POST

Powell resigned as executive secretary of the cash register company in May of last year. He had served in the position for six years.
He first became associated with the company 25 years ago as a clerk
and typist.

A wife and son, Frank, survive
the former executive.
A daughter, Joann, also survives.
Powell's body was found in the lawn by neighbors. A 38 caliber revolver lay nearby

GARDEN CLUB MEETS
The Kingston Garden Club met in a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. H. E. Yapple with the following program, presented by the president, Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach, presiding. Minutes of the April meeting read by the secretary, Mrs. F. B. Mowery and approved by the club. Roll call. A report of a meeting that she attended in Columbus recently was given by Mrs. J. P. Gardner, who was the chairman for the program at this meeting. The Garden Path, the club magazine, was distributed by the secretary. A report from "The School for Judging," recently held in Chillicothe by Miss Mary McKenzie was very interesting and instructive. Mrs. W. D. Wood gave a talk on a trip to Fern Hollow on last Friday taken by Mrs. Wood, Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Miss Carrie Umsted and William Wood to see the wild flowers. Mrs. Arthur Hickie reported a trip to the George Smith farm near Londonderry, which she and Mr. Hickie took on Sunday to see the creeping phlox, she described the sight as most beautiful and the name Sunshine Valley has been given to the place. Mrs. Hickie also described a number of blue garden flowers and Miss Mary McKenzie described a number of pink garden flowers. All papers and talks created discussions which were most interesting and instructive.

The president appointed Mrs. P. Long, Miss Mary McKenzie and Mrs. James Leist on a committee to prepare programs for the meetings for the next three months. Mrs. Yapple served chicken, pimiento and nut-bread sandwiches, pickles and hot coffee to the following members and visitors: Mrs. J. E. Gardner, Mrs. Arthur Hickie, Mrs. F. P. Long, Mrs. F. B. Mowery, Mrs. Dennis H. Dreisbach, Miss Mary McKenzie, Mrs. J. O. Senff, Mrs. W. D. Wood, Mrs. Bertha Krafthefer, Mrs. Alice Brundige, Mrs. James Leist and Mrs. Robert Cryder.

When Chester A. Arthur was President of the United States, B. H. Kroger was a coffee merchant. From house to house he went, with that little red wagon, supplying hoop-skirted women with good coffee.

One night B. H. Kroger had a vision—a vision of a great chain of stores in which he would sell, besides good coffee, quality foods of every description. And so the first Kroger Store was born—clean, attractive, businesslike—but above all, stocked with foods that WERE foods.

FOR years there has been generally a striking avoidance of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it has solved the problem! It gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

"Fifty million smokers can't be wrong!" So whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly—safeguard your delicate membranes!

Quest

SCIENTIFIC proof that civilized man is living longer and that the infant mortality rate is being lowered should occasion no amazement for the factors behind them are quite commonplace.

For instance, there are the 6,645 hospitals providing 907,133 beds and 47,939 bassinets in the United States. Medicine has made marked progress. Physicians and surgeons are better trained and have more to work with. And there is public sanitation, pure milk and water, pure and nourishing food and enlightenment in the use of food, higher living standards, better housing and working conditions, accident prevention, public health agencies of proved efficiency in the prevention of epidemics, modern plumbing, better hygienic methods and other contributing factors evidence of which can be found on all sides.

Every citizen who avails himself of these aids to cooperate in accepting vaccination and other forms of immunization, in submitting to quarantine, in maintaining sanitary and healthful conditions, and in keeping informed on matters of diet, health and hygiene has made possible much of this progress. Without that cooperation medicine and public health services would have made little headway.

Man, fearing death, aspires to eternal life on this earth and eagerly accepts each addition to the average span of life, but he is not content with life alone. He wants a life free from pain and sickness and that also is being given him in increasing degree.

Ambitious

OLDER generations are not waging aggressive war against youth, as is charged by the younger generation which pleads that some of its so-called faults were handed down from its more or less esteemed ancestors. The older generation is conducting a moderate, almost defensive, war. All it asks is that the "faults" of the younger generation shall not be entirely ascribed to the older generation.

The reasons for the youthful discontent, so commonly cited as a fault, include the disillusionment which followed upon the World War, for which the older generation must be held chiefly responsible, because it was then in charge of the world. And yet in this matter of the war something of the responsibility rests on young shoulders; if not young men and women, then young nations.

The great catastrophe was not immediately precipitated by the big nations, but by the little nations eager for their own place in the sun. The match was lighted in the Balkans, where the ambitions of half a dozen little people clashed. The principal mistake and "crimes" alleged against the peace settlements do not lie against the big nations. The territorial settlements most often questioned are those benefiting the little nations in Central Europe. Present uncertainties are connected chiefly with the large brood of little fellows. They are young and they want to grow, often unreasonably.

Ads

AN "advertising sheet" was once a term of disapprobation. Today, if used, it would create a favorable impression upon the listener's mind.

Not so many years ago newspaper readers complained if, in their estimation, too much space in the family paper was given to advertising. Today the average reader would feel that he wasn't getting his money's worth if the advertising columns were omitted.

It has become an established fact that many newspaper readers who confess, so far as the news matter is concerned, to being headline readers only, find their greatest interest in the advertisements. They find in them both pleasure and profit.

This winning of the public favor is directly attributable to the good sense, the technical skill, the artistic methods and, above all, the honesty of the advertisers. So cleverly is the newspaper ad planned and executed that the reader is unconsciously of the combination of influences which attract his interest.

Sincerely, truth, service and consideration for the needs of the buying public are among the ideals of the advertisers. They are making advertising a science and a fine art. And this explains the change of attitude on the part of newspaper readers toward the advertisements which share the pages with news and headlines.

Not that it makes the slightest difference, but what exactly was the origin of the world julep?

"THE LOVE TRAP"

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

COPYRIGHT BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Kennedy had youth and beauty and an intense fear of poverty. Almost the last words of her dying mother warned her against marriage to a poor man. Mary refuses the offer of a home with her married sister, Katherine. She rents a small room. While sitting in the park making plans for a job, an elderly man of distinguished appearance engages her in conversation. He is Buck Landers, well known sports promoter and race horse owner. He offers Mary a job as secretary. Mary calls on Landers relative to the position. They have dinner together and Mary is thrilled by the surrounding splendor. Landers offers Mary a life of luxury. She realizes that she could never love Landers, but his wealth is an attraction.

CHAPTER VI

LANDERS, after a week had passed without seeing her, telephoned her to come up to his apartment.

"You've been neglecting me," he told her, smilingly. "I thought we were going to see something of each other, so I left it to you to set the date."

"I've been so busy with my new job," she apologized. "You know it is—I wanted to save all my energy while I'm breaking in."

"How would you like to have dinner with me tonight?"

She hesitated a moment. Then, "Why not? I think it would be nice."

"You haven't made up your mind to give me a quick yes on the other proposition—the personal one?"

She shook her head.

There were deepening lines of despair about his mouth; he lit a cigar and turned to gaze out the window.

"I'm afraid it's not such a good idea," she said slowly.

A little nerve in his jaw twitched visibly.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," he said, quickly decisive. "There's no percentage in these long waits. We'll have dinner together and go see the fight at the Garden tonight. I didn't get a chance to give you all of my argument the other night. Let me have another shot of convincing you. That's only fair, isn't it? Anybody—even Buck Landers, is entitled to his full chance, isn't he?"

She looked straight at Landers—met his steady eyes.

"All right—I'll give you your chance," she said, a queer little thrill in her voice.

Twenty thousand fight fans, screaming their half-hysterical blood lust, filled Madison Square Garden from pit to the distant girdled roof. Mary, beside Buck Landers, sat confused with the electric excitement in the first row.

The lights dimmed slowly until only the two heavy, bare-bodied fighters and the referee were visible in the white glare of the powerful lamps directly down on the ring. Mary was so close to them she could hear the vicious smack of their blows, could smell the pungent sting of liniment and sweat blood; at first she was sickened, but later her brain was caught up in the swirling excitement and she forgot everything else in life.

Because she had met Dick Leeds, the "London Lad," she became a prey to anguish lest he be battered down. An intoxication of partisanship swept her with fear and pain and hope, and when Leeds finally hammered his foe into insensibility she was clinging to the arm of Buck Landers, shaking with excitement, trying to cheer with her, punched throat.

Then suddenly it was all over and she was milling with thousands for the exits as normality ebbed back into her consciousness. But, somehow, Buck Landers seemed closer to her than ever before. She had taken the first step into his realm. It was a world wherein he was almost a king. People gave way for him, dozens were eager for his nod of recognition.

She heard a whisper from behind her. "There goes Buck Landers." And another, "Pipe the classy dame wit' him!" Tough slant-mouth fellows these, but Buck Landers was royalty to them. Mary felt definitely the forces of his prestige, his power. There was a protection around her.

In the throng she was pressed close to Landers. The contact with his body gave her a feeling that he was built of a flint-like substance; what he possessed was an enduring maturity rather than age.

Maturity plus strength—did that make him an old man?

For the first time, Mary was beginning to contrast him with younger men. His gaunt hardness was unlike their lithe elasticity, his skin lacked freshness. But he was, nevertheless, in an admirable prime; a strange little touch of grimeless "Well, he's not an old fool, anyway."

How potent he was she had opportunity to learn immediately and by chance. They were just out of the building when they were suddenly closed around by three, or possibly four, dark-skinned men. Beyond any question, Landers and Mary were being slowly shunted apart from the crowd. In a moment they were in what almost resembled a football huddle on the fringe of the mass of departing fans.

Landers was undisturbed, his lips scornful. His gaze centered on one of the evil faces.

"Well, Benny, what's the idea?" he demanded contemptuously.

Benny's voice was cringing, yet tinged with a veiled wickedness. "Why, Mr. Landers—we just wanted to speak to you a minute. On business. All we want is just a little loan. A couple of grand'll do fine."

"And what makes you think you can get away with this idea?" Landers asked curiously.

"Maybe because you cleared up fifty grand in bets on Leeds to-night," returned the other, a sinister leisure in his tone. "No hard feelings, Mr. Landers, but we boys can do you a lot of good in one way and another. We're not trying to make any heavy tap. Just a friendly little loan when you won't miss it much."

The eyes of Buck Landers roamed over the faces of the surrounding gyps, as though he were cataloging their features for future reference. When he spoke his voice was swift, crackling.

"Listen, rats! I don't deal with your kind. Out of my way!"

His words stabbed Mary with a cold excitement; peculiarly she was afraid—not for herself or Landers—but for the men. Landers had a dangerous fundamental courage; the others were mere thugs. A baleful menace glistened in his cold eyes and the thugs, almost visibly, covered. It was as though a harsh mental force had been thrown against them. They fell back silently and allowed Mary and Landers to pass.

As he escorted her to the parking place of his car, she was pale but otherwise unshaken. "I was sure you were going to have some trouble with them," she told him.

"I wasn't," he returned grimly. "Will they bother you again?"

"Probably not—they're stopped at the start. I never worry about things like that."

"I think you're awfully brave," she confided to him in the car. "They were so terrible looking."

Landers gave his chauffeur a crisp order to drive up through Central Park. "I don't believe you were a bit frightened," he asserted admiringly.

"I wasn't—because you weren't." "I like to hear you talk that way," Landers replied. "You're my kind of a girl. I don't like men, or women, either, who get squeamish."

There was a menace in his even voice, a frigid echo that bore out Mary's faith in his strength.

"Well, we won't either of us worry about it any more," she responded more lightly.

Another thing she liked about him, too, was that he made no attempt to embrace her in the car. He appeared to have none of the swift eagerness of passionate youth. Somehow she felt a little grateful toward him for that.

They were gliding through the winding drives of the park; all around them was duskiness, while the sky was softly illuminated from New York's jeweled towers of light. The richness, the smoothness of the car conveyed to Mary a sense of luxurious privacy. There was a magic in the wealth that enabled them so easily to escape the city's pressure and congestion.

"I don't suppose you ever pictured yourself caring for a hard bird like me?" he said unexpectedly.

She was silent.

"I've led the kind of life that made me hard," he explained. "When I was a kid I was a mule skinner in railroad camps. I've been dealing with hard people all my life and I had to be harder than they were. But I wouldn't be hard toward anybody I cared about. I could be actually good to the right person. You, for instance. I can see myself happily married and getting away from a lot of this racket."

For the right woman I'd make a good husband, and she could have everything."

Throughout all of her mind, throughout all of her being, being, Mary sensed his inward desire—a sharpened reaction to living that was renewal to the man's youth. To the right woman, she truly believed, he really would make a good husband, a powerful mate.

"It would be nice to be the right woman," she said, "but I don't think you have found her in me."

"In all of New York and in all my life you are the best bet I've come across," he stated. "How does that make you feel when I tell you that?"

"I think it flatters my vanity."

"I could make you happy," he said steadily. "You like me now, but I think I could make you love me, and if you love me, it would be perfect, wouldn't it?"

"Yes—if I loved you."

Diabetes Is Not Curable, But It Can Be Controlled

Discovery of Insulin, One of the Greatest Achievements of Modern Science, Enables Physicians to Avert Dangerous Complications

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City. United States Senator from New York.

UNTIL a few years ago diabetes was considered a hopeless disease. Today our understanding of diabetes has increased remarkably. This is particularly true with reference to the management of the disease and the use of "insulin."

Complications such as coma, gangrene and infections, which formerly were fatal, are now rarely encountered.

In diabetes, there is a lack of a certain necessary bodily secretion. Due to this deficiency the body is unable to take care of sugar. In consequence sugar accumulates within the body and causes serious damage to the internal organs.

Usually this condition can be corrected by diet. Where diet alone is not sufficient insulin is given.

The discovery of insulin is one of the greatest achievements of modern science. Insulin supplies the necessary substance which is lacking in the body of the diabetic. Contrary to a common belief, insulin does not cure diabetes. It controls the disease. The diet, however, is important, and must not be neglected even when insulin is given.

Since insulin is a powerful drug, it cannot be taken carelessly. It must be used under the personal supervision of a physician.

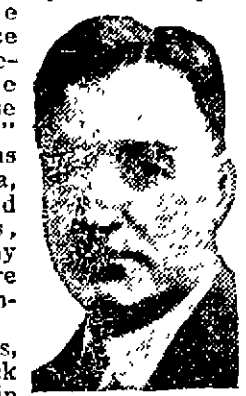

Many persons suffering from diabetes are misled by false statements and the claims made for patent medicines. The victim is promptly attracted to any remedy that offers a quick cure, and the number of patent medicines, herbs, salts and mineral waters which are advocated for the cure of diabetes is overwhelming.

Frankly, there is no medicine known to mankind that will cure diabetes. The disease can be successfully controlled only by proper diet and the correct use of insulin. Neglect of the diet or failure to follow instructions is dangerous.

Insulin can be given only by hypodermic injections. No satisfactory method of giving insulin by mouth has been perfected, although much research in this direction is under way.

Since no two cases are alike it is difficult to prescribe a definite diet. The food intake is governed by the amount of sugar present in the urine and blood. This also determines the amount of insulin that is necessary.

Every individual should have a urine analysis every six months. If sugar is present in the urine an immediate blood test should be made. If your condition is diagnosed as diabetes, place yourself under the care of a physician or enroll in a diabetic clinic. Avoid "sure cures" and well-intentioned but unscientific advice.

The Daily Horoscope

Thursday, May 5, 1932

Important changes are likely to develop today, both in personal affairs and in the world of business. Not a time to commence new undertakings however, as they would hardly grow to any marked success.

Those who are easily discouraged many find the early morning setting. Family affairs and matters connected with the old folks are apt to weigh heavily on the mind. Business men may indulge in gloomy speculations as to the future at this time. But they should not try to work out any new plans today. Better results would follow by waiting twenty-four hours.

About 10 a. m. is a poor time for dealing with bankers, brokers and security salesmen. Anything bought during this hour may prove a source of difficulty and loss in the future. Not a time to undertake any legal matters; to go surety for others or to accept promises. Everything points to excess confidence under this indication.

The afternoon is marked by generally favorable conditions for business and routine affairs. Some beneficial for people born during the first ten days of January, May and September, although they may not obtain any large results without co-operation with others.

Persons whose birthdays this is, are mathematical and fond of sedentary occupations. They like to play indoor games. Perhaps, their greatest handicap is their fickle nature and desire to change occupations.

Children born on this date, should be taught to avoid speaking without being spoken to. They need more poise, patience and confidence in themselves all of which should be instilled in their minds early in life.

Among those of note who claim this date as their birthday are: Heinrich Karl Marx, German socialist, 1818; Hubert Howe Bancroft, historian, 1832; Elmer Gates, inventor, 1859.

Coming to The Cliftona Theater

Here are the Morin Sisters Pauline, Evelyn and Margone, latest addition to the artist's staff of Cliftona Theater. Coming to the Cliftona Theater Mothers Day Sunday May 8th. It is interesting to note that while these charming sisters are now attracting wide-spread attention among radio listeners as vocalists, they recently came to the studio of the Cliftona Theater for an audition as instrumentalists.

It is a chance that William Rose, musical director of the Cliftona Theater, has given to these demure maidens from Indiana, possessed with a wonderful sense of rhythm and a desire to make the girl's voice heard "and as a result of this audition as an instrumentalist."

Not that it makes the slightest difference, but what exactly was the origin of the world julep?

THE LAG BY JOHN JEFFRIES</

Bucks Conceded Chance At Title

COLUMBUS, O., May 5.—En- of Bennett and Wonsowicz at the by the performances of Penn Relays that gave the Buckeye coaches the idea about winning the Big Ten title.

Wonsowicz, soaring up in the air 13 feet 6 inches tied with Beecher of Indiana for first in the pole vault, and Bennett stepped out and won the 100-yard dash. Wonsowicz narrowly missed going over the pole at 13 feet 9 1/4 inches. As it was, he and Beecher set a new Penn Relay record.

A future is forecast for Bennett because, according to track experts, he has one of the most beautiful running forms in intercollegiate competition. He is the possessor of superb arm and leg action. He speeds with his chin on his chest when springing—a more upright runner than Simpson.

Out in the west a star named Sailing of Iowa has risen to challenge Keller's reign over the hurdlers. He recently ran the highs in 14.4 seconds at the Drake Relays. He is a man to be feared at the Big Ten meet.

Coaches Castleman and Snyder do not dispute that Michigan and Indiana should be the rightful favorites in the approaching meet. The potentialities of the two new Ohio State stars, however, may change all the odds, they insist.

A dual meet with Michigan is to be held here on May 14 before the Evanston engagement. At that time the Bucks can get an estimate of the Wolverine strength.

MILLERS IN TIE
MINNEAPOLIS, May 5.—By beating the unfortunate Toledo Mud Hens again, the Minneapolis Millers today had nosed into a tie with Indianapolis and Kansas City for first place in the American association.

Old Rube Benton beat the Hens yesterday, 3 to 2, triumphing over Roscoe Lawson and Elam Van Gilder in a pitcher's battle. Indianapolis beat Kansas City, 14 to 7, and thereby continued its neck and neck race with the Blues for first place.

The Columbus Red Birds humbled the St. Paul Saints, 5 to 3, to win their fifth straight game, but still were unable to crash into the first division. Columbus won the game with timely pinch hitting by George Hens in the ninth inning.

TO THE VOTERS OF PICKAWAY-CO.
Taxes and Expenses are too high and while county salaries only make a very small part of these, during these times every effort should be made to reduce. In no other office is there an opportunity to help do these things like in the Surveyor's office where the salary is above the average and a great deal of money is expended. I am for a reduction of unnecessary expenses and 10 per cent in salary and for a more even distribution of employment among the greatest number of people.

GIANTS, MACKS ARE IN SLUMP

First Intersection Games To Be Played Today; Cards Again Blank Reds.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The first intersection games of the baseball season will be played in six major league cities today with no relief in sight for the two most disappointing teams of the year—the New York Giants and Philadelphia Athletics.

The Giants, buried in the National league cellar as the result of ten defeats in fifteen starts, must take on the champion St. Louis Cardinals, finally in stride with a four-game winning streak after a poor start.

Connie Mack's Athletics, in sixth place in the American league, have looked good against the tail-end Boston Red Sox in their last two games but will meet far sterner opposition today when they tackle the Cleveland Indians, on the war-path with a record of ten victories in their last eleven games.

BETTS AGAIN
Two alleged set-ups, Boston and Philadelphia, are the shock troops of the National league season starts. The Braves stayed in first place by blanking the Phils yesterday, 3 to 0, in an eight-inning affair. Huck Betts, the "veteran rookie" who formerly pitched for the Quakers, held his one-time mates to four scattered hits. Red Worthington's homer with one on base in the third gave the Braves enough runs to win.

Betts has, given unexpected aid to the back bay boys and Lon Warneke has been an equally pleasant surprise to the Cubs. Warneke hung up his fourth win of the campaign in winning a 4 to 1 duel from Larry French of the Pirates, keeping the Cubs close on the heels of the Braves.

CARDINALS UP
Meanwhile the Cardinals eased into fourth place, only half a game behind the Phils, by blanking the Reds again 7 to 0. Flint Rhem held Cincinnati to six hits, of which Grantham got three. Blades got a homer and a double for the Cards but Mancuso was the real batting star with four hits, including a homer.

The White Sox, who get off to a good start in most of their games only to falter in the stretch, were posed out by Detroit, 8 to 7, after leading 5 to 9 at one stage. Home runs by Gehring, Walker and Stone won for the Tigers. Gehring's four-bagger was his sixth of the season and he is now tied with Ruth, Terry and Ripper Colling for the lead in the home run derby.

The Tigers are tied for second place with the Cleveland Indians, who made four errors but managed to beat St. Louis, 8 to 2. Clint Brown held the Browns to six hits. Other teams were not scheduled.

Honolulu capitalist, and Mrs. Anne Kline, militant civic leader.

"I believe the governor hedged on the issue and took only half-way measures," said Dillingham.

Gov. Judd, however, appeared unimpressed by the criticism and refused to comment on possibility of further legal action.

Meanwhile the four defendants were free to go where they pleased.

TO SAIL SUNDAY

Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Massie, and his wife have started packing their belongings preparatory to sailing Sunday on the Malolo for the mainland, accompanied by Darrow.

"I will be glad to get back to the United States," said Mrs. Fortescue. "The tragic events of the last few months have not ruined my life by any means. I know I will have happiness among my own people."

Lieut. Massie, who is to be given a leave of absence from duty at the submarine base, said he had no plans for the immediate future. But hoped to visit his mother at Anderson, Ky.

That all was not smooth with the legal machinery that set the four defendants free was learned today. Gov. Judd, it was reported, expressed opposition to a pardon when he first conferred with Darrow after his radio phone talk with Wilbur.

The commutation was finally agreed upon.

Darrow told Attorney General Hewitt that he thought there had been a fair trial—"as fair as possible under the laws."

Hewitt, a young man, seemed disturbed, and Darrow quickly laid his hand on the younger man's shoulder and added:

"It was a fair trial, and one of the fairest judges I have ever seen. Your law has been upheld; but I think human law is higher—and it has been upheld, too."

Any member of the family of Samuel McKenzie, R. F. D. 2, Circleville, is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

service should be rewarded. She stands high among her professional associates and social friends being very active in the women's organizations with which she has become affiliated.

Ernie W. Weiler, a new comer in politics, is a candidate for Recorder. Ernie has been a life long resident of Pickaway-co and was born in Wayne-twp. the son of William Weiler. He is now a resident of Circleville and has a host of friends among the younger set.

George R. Whitehurst needs no introduction to the voters of Pickaway-co. He is a resident of the second ward and asks the nomination for Recorder. George is not making an active campaign since he has been ill for several months. He has a host of friends in the county having served as Recorder from 1920 to 1924.

G. M. Barnes, son of Tull M. Barnes, is asking for his first public office in seeking the nomination for Recorder. George is a graduate of the Circleville High school and has been associated with his father in the contracting business. He is well known and well liked and is making a thorough canvass for the office he seeks.

Orville Bumgarner, is not a stranger to the voters of the county but is after his first public office when he asks for the nomination for county Recorder. He is a native of Harrison-twp. He is a graduate of the Jackson-twp high school where he later taught school as well as at Walnut-twp. He is a World War veteran and has had several years of business experience and is qualified to serve the county in the office he seeks.

A. M. Daugherty, a resident of Derby, in Darby-twp, is the other Democratic candidate for Recorder. He is also another man who is seeking his first public office. For years he operated a grain elevator at Derby where he made a large number of friends who will support him at the coming primary.

The only candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of Recorder is George E. Roth, of N. Scioto-st. Mr. Roth will be the man the successful Democratic candidate will oppose at the November election.

If it is your duty to vote at the Primary Election next Tuesday, Do your duty.

Personals

Mrs. L. J. Bon of Savannah, Ill. and Mrs. O. D. Powell of Chicago left for their homes Wednesday, after spending two weeks with their mother, Mrs. Ira Gulick, who is seriously ill at the home of Mrs. William Cady, S. Scioto-st.

Mrs. Mabel Walling returned to her home on W. Mount-st., Wednesday, after a week's visit with her daughter, Frances, in Wheeling, W. Va.

Miss Margaret Mattinson, Miss Mary Radcliffe and Miss Gertrude Pigman saw Fred Stone at the Hartman theatre in Columbus, Wednesday evening.

Dr. Schell and Dr. Wilkenson of Columbus were dinner guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson and daughter.

Mrs. H. A. Beideman and Mrs. Don Myers were visitors in Columbus Thursday.

Power of Garnr in California To Make Chicago Convention Wide Open.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Democratic presidential race has been thrown wide open by the surprising upset in the California primary, wherein Speaker John N. Garner scored an impressive victory and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt sustained the hardest blow his candidacy has yet received.

This was almost the universal opinion in Washington today after complete returns emphasized the magnitude of Roosevelt's defeat. Garner's victory over Roosevelt is about 45,000, with Alfred E. Smith running not a bad third.

The result fairly stunned the Roosevelt lieutenants here. They had confidently predicted that the New York governor would easily defeat Smith and Garner in California, and thus provide the "killing punch" to all opposition in the Chicago convention. Instead, it may turn out that Roosevelt himself has been on the receiving end of the "killing punch."

CLUBS BROADCAST

Starting Saturday, May 7 at 8 p. m. and every Saturday thereafter will be broadcast over station WEAO, a 4-H Club hour radio program. This program will feature things of interest to the clubs throughout Ohio.

The program on next Saturday night, May 7th will be comprised of music by the 4-H Quartet; A Nature Discussion by H. El. Eawine and a discussion of our Radio Program by W. H. Palmer, state club leader. Four club leaders and members are invited to tune in on Station WEAO of the Ohio State university and enjoy this program.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The army appropriation bill, slashing nearly $59,000,000 below last year's figure and more than $24,000,000 below budget estimates, was reported to the House today by the appropriations committee.

TORNADO KILLS 30

CALCUTTA May 5.—At least 30 people were killed in a tornado of terrific intensity which swept over the eastern portion of Bengal today.

The tornado was accompanied by the worst thunder storm in the memory of inhabitants. Hailstones several inches in diameter wrecked havoc, injuring many in addition to wrecking property.

Seven of a family of 11 were killed by a lightning bolt in the village of Hayagung.

Sale Law

The Sale law is one of the provisions of a code of laws of the Salian Franks first drafted in about the Fifth century. The code relates chiefly to compensation or punishment for crimes; it contains a provision regarding the succession of the Salic lands. The provision declares that "males shall inherit lands in preference to females."

The law is best known by its special application as excluding women from the throne of France—Literary Digest.
